

The association between late development size and late development glucose response (stress – baseline) from models stratified by amount of parental care

