

Nestling blood glucose at baseline and in response to handling stress at mid- and late development

